FOREWORD

AY this book bring to you a true portrayal of our school, yesterday, today, and tomorrow. If there can be found in it the embodiment of Lincoln spirit and loyalty; if it will restore to you in the years to come cherished memories of Lincoln life, and depict the laughs, hopes, and dreams of the adventurous youth that throng its halls; if it will act as a reminder of the faithful services of our faculty for the past four years, and serve as a monument to the untiring efforts of our adviser, Miss Esther Mary Brannen, whose initiative has made this style senior publication possible for the first time; then The Senior Railsplitter staff's highest hopes for this volume will have been fulfilled.

THE JUNE 1932 CLASS POEM

Classmates, rest we here a little, while our life is yet at morn; Pause and voice the new emotions that of this glad hour are born. 'Tis the time which all has led to, since we heard the first bell's call, Summoning us to meet together in the now familiar hall. Dear old school! How much our days here slowly led us on to know! How much then undreamed of knowledge we are taking as we go! Many a day we've sat and pondered o'er some strongly puzzling text.
Wondering what our wise instructors could bring forth to ask us next! Many a day we've worked some problem through in gratifying style, Trying to make ourselves believe that we had known it all the while. Faithfully we've toiled and striven, pressing on with higher aim, Gravely vying with each other, emulating men of fame.

Here about the grounds we've wandered, talking over all we've read, Thinking thoughts too deep for utterance—dreaming what must ne'er be said;

must ne'er be said;
When we leaped into a future, far as human brain might see;
Saw the vision of our lives and all the wonders that might be!
Listening for some "Never! Never!" whispered by the phantom years,
Till a song from out the distance rang its promise in our ears.
Boys will surely come to manhood; men will surely older grow;
Will the dreams of future glory follow after as we go?
Where's the fate that we must turn to, leaving happy scenes like these,
Are the doors not barred with gold to open but to golden keys?

Are the gates not thronged with suitors, do not markets overflow? We are young, and know so little! Where's the place for us to go? Ah! we're well prepared for action! Watch us write on History's page Names to shine throughout the centuries as the wonder of the age! For we feel a wild pulsation summoning to active strife, With a whole world for the winning, in the tumult of young life. Yearning for the wild excitement only strife worth while can yield, Eager-hearted as in class room forging through some new-found field. We have conquered in that class-room—we shall win in efforts new; Guerdons we have won but promise all the things we yet shall do! For "I doubt not through" our future "life increasing purpose runs," And our thoughts, too, "will be widened by the process of the suns." O Commencement! not the ending that it seems to all our strife, But the gate that opens outward to a bigger, broader life! Classmates, may the crescent promise of our spirit newer set,
But the fount of inspiration gush through all our fancy yet;
Howsoever life may lead, a long farewell to school we say,
And to principal and teacher, nevermore to point our way.
There's a blessing in my soul, friends, welling from its deepest part,
Gathering in its hold the deepest, truest throbbings of my heart. Let it fall on our dear school and every old friend, as we know, We must clasp each hand and whisper, "Goodbye, Classmates!"

-JACK RUSSELL OBERENDER.

Heretofore the frontispiece in The Senior Railsplitter has been a picture of the school building with no sign of life in view. In order to create the atmosphere of the regular school life a group of students were found one day in positions characteristic of every day activities. The following students gave their time most patiently in an effort to bring The Senior Railsplitter one notch nearer perfection: Joseph Lindsay, Ralph Davis, Bert Duff, Lorin Geil, Harold Harvey, Ward Ogden, Elbert Venn, Joseph Plemone, Mildred Christian, Nadine Faidley, Orrie Goodvin, Lina Masolini, Virginia Wier, Wilmetta Whitelock.

President Summers' Address to June Graduates

HE CLOSING HOURS of our high school career are approaching; our work is almost over. We meet today for the last time as a class, 100 of us making the last entry in the journal of our Abraham Lincoln high school days.

For four long, hard, but happy years we have added debits and credits to our personal ledger-crediting the useful knowledge that we have retained; the various contributions we have made in the fields of athletics, dramatics, journalism, music, and other extra-curricular activities; the service we have given to make life in Lincoln high easier for all concerned; debiting against ourselves the numerous opportunities we failed to grasp, the times we cheated a little on a test, or played truant from school for a few hours and supposedly "got away" with it.

As the time draws near for severing our June, 1932, class ribbons, symbolic in itself of the scattering of the members of our class, we all wonder if, when our books are finally audited, they will show a credit balance, signifying our success, or will loom up in red, revealing to the world that we have made a failure of the first important test we have had to confront in life.

The mere fact that we are graduating does not necessarily imply that we have been truly successful. Because of our ability to pass the required scholastic work, we have earned the right to sit garbed in cap and gown today; but, if our departure is not felt by Lincoln high school; if we are not leaving on our own merits; if we have not left some tangible impression instilled in the minds of the faculty and students, our years have not been well spent.

Today we are in a strange and contradictory state of mindboth optimistic and pessimistic; optimistic and hopeful because we have completed our assigned task, and are about to have what we have always visioned, until today, as personal freedom. Now, we realize that this, that we have called freedom for four years, embodies, with its pleasures, much responsibility. We are leaving the guidance and protection of faithful instructors, who have aided us in our decisions during our high school career and we are facing life, alone, in the most difficult time history has ever known.

Classmates, if we were placed on a high pinnacle where we could look upon all periods of history, would we choose this day in which to live, this day in which to enter the business and pro-fessional world in the midst of economic change and unrest; this day in which to start in at college to study for a career which may possibly shift so quickly that it will not even be a needed profession when completed?

No! Not one of us would choose such a difficult time to face life and start anew. However, through our study we have learned that hard times are frequently the path to development of deeper thinking among the more earnest. These last four years of prepa-ration have taught us courage if nothing else. The present period is a challenge to us. Shall we falter and fail now? Study also shows us that strife is caused through greed, imperialistic ambition, or lack of capable leaders of sound character and reasonable foresight in a great crisis, such as we are now facing. the demand of today then greater than ever before for the efficient, skilled, well trained individual? Is not the urge even stronger therefore, to fit ourselves to meet this demand through higher education?

The garden of the world is a paradise of miracles and unrest, but those who have their inner sight wide open to the unforeseen mysteries of life ever recognize them. In every seed is eternal glory of creation, in every blossom the promise of the greater possibility of which the fruit is the perfect fulfillment. Someone has written: "A poppy seed-it lies in the hand, a grain of dust, motionless, unlovely, dead. Yet think what it holds! The cool, graygreen of the upward-springing stalks and leaves, the calyx with its hundreds of protecting ears, the exquisitely shining, silky, gorgeous petals in sunset rose, misty white balls, magnificent scarlet. In all this not an atom of dust." So it is with our lives. Today we, as a class, are pushing out from the seed to grow upward into the perfect aspiration of material life. Are we ready to grow?

Many of us who had planned a college education for the fall of 1932, now find that impossible. Others of us had thought we would be able to find employment during the summer months, but there are no places available. Apparently we are at a standstill. But this is only apparent. Industry may be at a standstill but that is no reason why we should not perfect our learning and utilize what we have so far gained. If we have a period of enforced leisure we may use it to learn. If we will study we shall be led to higher life, and be induced to place higher goals before ourselves. An educated person is not necessarily one who has completed the prescribed courses in high school and college, but one who has taught himself to be fair and honest, as well, to meet the problems of life with a level and clear head, to take both the good and bad breaks with his head up and a smile for the world. A student of the world does not let temporary success turn his head, but sets forth toward a higher goal, and ambition instills in his own soul a desire to do more for God and humanity.

But if we do reconcile ourselves to the fact and believe the world has nothing good in store for us, we shall gradually become useless and reckless, caring not for the future, typical "drug store cowboys" sitting around telling useless stories. In time we shall either awaken and start over, or we shall be swept through life a dismal failure without doing justice even to ourselves

Which life is yours, members of June class of 1932? The choice is for each of us as individuals to make. Today marks the completion of one of the four most vital and important years of our lives. They have been years of building foundations, and preparing to meet these odds that we are actually facing today. The world is crying for sound, sane, unbiased leaders, both intelligently and morally. Are we going to be able to meet this challenge? Let us be found standing together, shoulder to shoulder boldly facing the problems of our lives.

The June 1932 Class Remembers Lincoln High

The June, 1932, class is giving to Abraham Lincoln High school, as a remembrance, two artistic cement benches and a cement bird bath trimmed in unusual colored stone. They are moulded by hand, the stone coming from different parts of Iowa.

These benches will be placed in an appropriate spot on the Lincoln campus.

Boys' Quartet - - - Girls' Glee Club

The boys' quartet with blazers of maroon and gold and the girls' glee club, which made its initial appearance this semester, have been a source of entertainment for school activities and outside functions.

This talented group of vocalists is directed by Warren E. Pollard.

Senior Art Department

Do we have a Senior Art department? Look at the above and find the answer! Many of them have had only one semester of art, but can they design, combine color, and draw? Visit room 232 on any day or note the exhibits which have been hanging on the north walls the past few weeks for proof that they can. All odd jobs, fine lettering or cartooning needed at Abraham Lincoln High school are done by these cheerful art cherubs.

In the Footsteps of David Belasco

The Senior Dramatic club consists of a combination of two units, the tenth grade dramatic club and the Belasco Dramatic Those interested in acting are in one group, and those interested in directing or producing are in another group. The officers in the Belasco group are: Harold Macy, president; Loren Runge, vice president; Doris Scharnweber, secretary; and John Petosa, treasurer.

The officers of the tenth grade group include: Ruth Brown, president; and Grace Rydberg, secretary.

La Curie Science club is open to any Abraham Lincoln High school senior student. It is an organization for the science student as well as for the student who has never had science in his high school course. Since it is a general science club the programs deal with such subjects as astronomy, chemistry, electricity, ornithology, and physics.

Graduates Are Active Participants In Athletics

Abraham Lincoln High school's 1932 football season proved to be an unsuccessful year, due to the stiff schedule which confronted the boys during the current season,

Stuart high furnished the opposition in the opening tilt for the Railsplitters. Although the Railsplitters outplayed and outsmarted their opponents during the entire battle, the South Siders were declared the losers because of ineligibility. The following Saturday the maroon and gold eleven battled Newton to a 6-6 tie at the Drake stadium.

ARDEN I. McCLAIN, Coach

Indianola, carded to lose in its conflict with the Railsplitters, snatched a fumble during the game and rushed on to a touchdown which later proved the margin of victory. After holding the championship North High aggregation scoreless for three quarters, the Railsplitters weakened in the final minutes of play and the Polar Bears went home on the long end of the score. Hampered by injuries, Lincoln tangled with East High on the following Saturday, only to see another defeat chalked up against them. Roosevelt also proved a menace to the Railsplitters, pushing over three touch-downs against the Lincoln boys. Forgetting the unceremonious whippings administered by the city high schools, the maroon and gold eleven journeyed to Osceola, and hung up the first victory of the season by an overwhelming score of 41-0. The Railsplitters engaged in another scoreless conflict when they opposed Valley Junction in the final contest of the season.

Although the record signifies a poor showing, the Railsplitters boast of some of the outstanding football warriors ever to carry the maroon and gold colors on any gridiron field. Weldon German's sensational work on the line will be long remembered by the spectators who witnessed this athlete in action. German's contribution to athletics includes four years of football, three years of basketball, and three years on the track field. He won 10 monograms for his services, the largest number ever won by any Lincoln athlete. Owen Hall, captain of Coach McClain's '32 machine, played an important role in the backfield position, calling signals and directing the team's plays. Paul Meagher played a prominent part on the line, stopping many plays which were centered around his position. Elbert Venn, rated one of the best backfield men ever developed at Lincoln high, was the dynamic force of the '32 aggregation. Venn's long, sweeping end runs, and his passing ability were features in every contest in which he participated. Carl Leopold, Berrimand Breeden, Ward Ogden, Loren Runge, Harold Harvey, and Dean Zempel also performed brilliantly in their respective positions during the '32 season.

CAGE SQUAD WINS EIGHT CONTESTS

With the football season completed another fast, snappy, and heartbreaking sport activity made its appearance on the schedule, basketball. Lincoln inaugurated a fairly good season in basketball by winning eight and losing ten games.

Lincoln opened its cage schedule against Guthrie Center, losing a close decision to the former county champs. In a return contest, Guthrie Center found a revamped Railsplitter squad, and as a result went down in defeat. Stuart lost both of their engagements to Lincoln by huge scores. Roosevelt, state champs, defeated the Railsplitters in two contests, and the feat was also duplicated by East and North high, respectively. Earlham and Valley Junction met defeat at the hands of the Railsplitters by close scores. Indianola divided matters with the maroon and gold, winning one and losing one.

Weldon German, who has played a guard position for three years, will be the only veteran missing from the '32 squad when basketball makes its initial appearance next season.

MEAGHER OUTSTANDING TRACKSTER

Displaying huge, strong, and brawny muscles the 1932 track squad made an impressive showing in the 23rd annual Drake relays. Although Lincoln did not capture any first place honors, they finished third and fourth in the 880-yard relay and 100-yard dash, respectively. The Railsplitters also participated in the Grinnell relays, failing to win any first place honors.

Paul Meagher, diminutive athlete, captured first place in the discus event in the annual District tourney held at the Drake stadium, May 21. Meagher sent the platter sailing through the air at a distance of 110 feet. Due to his mighty heave, Meagher was awarded a gold medal by the State High school association. Meagher also participated on the 220 relay team which finished in second place Graduation takes away from Abraham Lincoln the services of Paul Meagher, Robert Backus, and Jack Summers. With the graduation of these men, Coach McClain will have to look for new half-milers, and a shot putter.

TENNIS TEAM TIES ROOSEVELT

The racket wielders of Lincoln High opened their tennis campaign against East and suffered their first defeat of the season at the hands of the Lee township aggregation. After capturing the first two singles contest, the Railsplitters faltered in the doubles event, and East grabbed its first victory of the season by an 8-4 score.

Lincoln met Roosevelt in the second contest which resulted in a 3-3 tie. The Railsplitters captured two singles and one double event with Roosevelt doing the same.

Coach C. W. Baskerville's boys also participated in the District tourney held at Ames, but failed to win any honors.

Arthur Johnson, former state singles champion, gave a good account of himself during the season by winning two singles events. Johnson's first victory came in the contest with East High. He also proved superior against Roosevelt.

"CHUCK" HOUSEMAN

GOLFERS PLACE SECOND IN CITY MEET

The golf aggregation under the supervision of Aaron C. Hutchens, vice principal, met defeat at the hands of Roosevelt and East high.

East administered the first defeat to the Rail-splitters by a close score, 4-2. East was forced to stage an uphill battle and its victory was well deserved.

Lincoln lost a closely played contest against the Roughriders by a half point margin. Despite a strong wind which made golfing a difficult task, Paul Watson circled the 18-hole layout in 81 strokes.

The Railsplitters swung their clubs with ruthless and unrelenting vigor in the City tournament, Saturday, May 21, by landing in second place, due to the successful efforts of Edward Davis. Davis shot a sparkling 80 which concluded the team's average with a grand total of 328.

Roosevelt placed first with a total of 307 points.

Paul Watson and Edward Davis will be lost to the team via the graduation route.

1932 Track Squad

The track squad under the tutelage of Coach Arden I. McClain participated in five outstanding meets of the year, including the Drake relays, Grinnell relays, city meet, district meet, and the state tourney. The Railsplitters' outstanding achievement was accomplished by Paul Meagher when he placed first in the discus throw in the district meet.

Girls' Athletic Association

LUCY PLEMONE, President DOROTHY LATTA, Vice President

AMALIE MYERS FRIEDMAN, Adviser

MARGARET PILKINGTON, Secretary LAURA GIUDICESSI, Treasurer

In the fall of 1924 the first Girls' Athletic Association in Abraham Lincoln High school was organized under the direction of Eunice Cripe, physical education instructor. The club then consisted of 20 members. Today it has a membership of 42 girls.

The purpose of the association is to give girls a chance to earn school monograms for their work in home room games and outside athletics, such as hiking, rowing, skating, and swimming. A large L. G. A. is given for 300 points made as a total.

SENIORS PREFER SPORTS ·· dillib ··

VARIETY IS SPICE OF SENIOR AMBITIONS · dillib ·

Athletics, sports, and outdoor life seem to make up the background for the interesting hobbies of the June, 1932, graduates. This is true in spite of the fact that there are 16 more girls who will walk the platform for their diplomas than there are boys in this class of 100.

That vo-vo wrists are a passing fancy as a hobby was another interesting revelation, as none of the senior grads mentioned this as his most fascinating hobby. But when it comes to sports that take you out into the sunshine the Lincolnites will be found. Baseball topped the list with nine backers; while swimming, with eight finny followers; golf with seven "fore" shouters; and tennis with six non-love scorers, ranked next. General sports and athletics of all types made the hobby choice of five grads, this being equalized in number with five students whose hobby was football. Basketball and track found a devotee apiece, while such sports as skating, interesting two experts; fishing, horse racing and hunting, concluded the list of sports fans.

Going places and milder forms of recreation were the hobbies of another group, three preferring walking, and the others everything from riding a bicycle through caring for dogs, raising flowers, roller skating, to joy riding in the Lincoln models of hustling advertising seniors.

Two June, 1932, diploma hunters like aeroplanes, as one of them has proved by modeling one.

Such an interesting range of indoor fun as seniors like when it comes to indoor sports for selection of a hobby, reading and music lead, with ten and seven followers, respectively. But here is a slender girl who has decided to eat more bread, another senior who collects pictures, others who read detective stories, play pingpong, cook, enjoy their radio and do handwork.

But the unusual thing about the indoor sport list is that there are actually some students who study for a hobby. What an excellent refutation to skeptics' ideas of the average high school student of today. Look them over, here's the list:

Upon looking into the inner souls of the seniors, it is found that business will claim 21 members of the June, 1932, graduating class. In this field the most desired positions are those of a private secretary, stenographer, department store buyer, personnel director, certified public accountant, and salesman.

Twelve members of the present senior class intend to be teachers, the more popular fields being: football coach, swimming instructor, director of physical education, girls' adviser, commercial instructor, kindergarten teacher, and English instructor.

Ten boys of the class are intent upon becoming engineers. Electrical and mechanical seem to be the most popular in this Journalism will claim six students with three desiring to be come feature writers, two advertising men, and one a reporter.

Music has been chosen by four students of the senior class as their desired life work. Blues singer, concert pianist, and music director are the chosen fields.

Other prominent vocations in which members of the June, 1932, class intend to embark include those of an aviator, doctor, forester, nurse, professional dancer, professional golfer, and traveler. Other members of the class are planning to become criminal lawyers, enter consular service, and act as a cateress.

History of Lincoln High

Abraham Lincoln High school is now celebrating its ninth year of existence; many joys and many sorrows, some victories and some defeats have been witnessed by students of Lincoln High through these nine long years. The June, 1932 Class is the twelfth Lincoln High class to finish their twelfth year of school-

Nathan H. Weeks has been the principal since Lincoln High was first opened. Among the 56 instructors, 13 have devoted their time and talent for nine years. They include Bess B. Ballantyne, Mrs. Marian I. Barr, Esther Mary Brannen, Robert L. Brewster, Eunice E. Cripe, Helen A. Dunkelberg, Odessa Farley, Mrs. Amalie Meyers-Friedman, Iola B. Quigley, Nora D. Sherwood, Gretta Starrett and Alma Walder.

The first class graduated in January, 1927, with the proud number of 28 graduates, while the June, 1932, class is the largest class ever to be graduated from Lincoln High with 100 happy graduates. The total number of students who started out and who would have graduated in this June class, if sickness, failures, deaths, and quittance had not diminished their number, would have been 192.

From these 100 students 27 come from Park Avenue grade school. Howe, Maple Grove and Washington are each represented with eight students while Jefferson comes close with five. Fairview, St. Anthony and West High all boast two as their

Eight decided they would like to graduate a semester earlier so attended summer school and graduated in the January, 1932,

Thirteen graduates obtained highest honor given in Lincoln High by being elected to national Honor Society. They include: Arthur Johnson, president; Ethel Potter, secretary; Corlyss Callison, Esther Cooper, Alice Gallagher, Mary Giannobule, Margaret Glassburn, Deane Hoskins, Dorothy Latta, Doris Scharnweber, Alice Sorrick, John Stevens, and Margaret Young.

In the Dramatic department Joseph Gillespie, Harold Macy,
Charlotte Parker, Loren Runge, Doris Scharnweber and Dorothy Stanton have proved their ability as actors through their outstanding work in "Footlight Fest," "Mignonette," "Penrod," and "Prince Chap."

Some of the graduates have given their time and talent to help make the music department successful. They include: Band and Orchestra: Wily Addis, Mildred Christian, Edwin Kennedy, Ethel Potter and Mary Louise Smith; Service Orchestra: Ethel Potter and Wily Addis. Ethel Potter is a member of the Des Moines Symphony orchestra. John Stevens is a member of the Lincoln High Boys' Quartet.

Lincoln Victories

For the last semester several students have worked to bring fame to Abraham Lincoln High school. The art department exhibited a group of scarf designs in the art room of the city library.

Lincoln's oratorical team won first place in the city contest, the school being represented by Simon Casady and Donald Harris.

The famed glider which was built by Richard Frazee and Roger Cook received its identification number from the Aeronautics department, Washington, D. C., was another outstanding surprise of the year.

Five Railsplitter penpushers won distinction in the International Quill and Scroll contest. Paul Meagher climaxed the recognition by submitting a sports story and having it judged one of the five best in the West Central states.

The others, staff writers, were: Margaret Young, who placed in column writing, being the only one representing Iowa; Lorin Geil submitted published editorials and was the only representative of Des Moines.

Margaret Glassburn for correct newspaper terms and Virginia Wier for headline writing were the only two students in Des Moines to receive honorable mention in these groups.

In the Abraham Lincoln High school Scribblers club which meets on Tuesdays and Thursdays 42 won card awards which is the highest award for a local group. The Scribblers are now members of the National Good Handwriting Club of America.

And still another achievement this semester is the affiliating of the Lincoln High La Curie Science club with the Junior Academy of Science of Iowa.

Probably the latest event in which Lincolnites participated and have won was the Tribune Yo Yo contest. William McNamara, pre-junior student, won $5.00, and Dale Tucker, a 10A student, won $2.50.

Resume of Senior Social Activities

Gay parties, bright decorations, and soft dance music mark the close of high school social life for the June, 1932, seniors. As the school year ends and seniors go hurrying along they pause for just a few seconds to think over the good times they have had together . . . the good times which are soon to end.

The first thing that enters their minds is the Senior Get-Together which was held March 30, 1932. This time all seniors enjoyed themselves laughing and playing games as well as meeting their fellow classmates. Next they think of the grand time they had International Day when seniors appeared on the Lincoln campus dressed in native fashions of other countries.

This thought leaves happy remembrances of the Informal, where gay senior feet danced to the sound of lovely music furnished by the Abraham Lincoln High Service orchestra. This event was followed by the Senior Parent Party where all mothers and fathers took part in the entertainment. On May 27, the lovely black and white silhouette senior formal, a spring party for all the graduating seniors left a pleasant memory.

Class Day, June 7, followed by a joyful picnic at the Waterworks park completed the round.

To bring to a close their many happy hours the seniors will enjoy a banquet to be held at Younker's Tea Room on June 8.

June . . . Sweet Sixteen

Ages! Ages! How does the June, 1932, senior class place with the average graduate in regard to years? "Who is the youngest in the class?" you ask. Well, to answer your question, some interesting information was found upon investigating and rambling around in the office files. Also added to this, some interesting information was discovered, such as:

What is the average age for a high school graduating student? Eighteen would usually be the quick June, 1932, Lincoln answer, but the present senior class has outdone themselves in getting ahead, for their average age is seventeen and eighteen years.

Who is graduating youngest, girls or boys?

It is generally acknowledged that girls graduate sooner than boys. So with the present class the average age for girls is 17.01, while the boys are following in close second with an average age of 17.35 years.

Who is the youngest June, 1932, Lincoln graduate? Although it has been girls in the past who have held this most distinguished honor, it is a tie this June . . . a girl and a boy. They are both sixteen years of age at the present time, but it happens the girl is still the youngest.

100 Grads Have But 70 Names

The seniors say that they have 100 names on their class roll,

The seniors say that they have 100 names on their class roll, but they really haven't! If you were to call the roll you would find that five students reply to the name of Mary. The Marys include, Mary Frances Burkhardt, Mary Katherine Giannobule, Mary Louise Smith, Mary Kathleen Munzenmaier, and Mary F. Zimmerman. This would make one answer to the roll call.

Then let's call the names of Dorothy, Alice, Margaret and Joseph and hear immediately the answers of Dorothy Anderson, Dorothy Callahan, Dorothy Latta, and Dorothy Stanton; Margaret Young, Margaret Pilkington, Margaret Glassburn and Marguerite Morlan; Joseph V. Caldwell, Joseph F. Gillespie, Joseph R. Lindsay, and Joseph Plemone; and Alice Mae Davisson, Alice J. Gallagher, Alice Sorrick, and Alice Tam. This would add four more answers to our odd roll call.

Next call William and Mildred, and note the response from Mildred E. Christian, Mildred Harper, and Mildred Arlene Millar; Mildred E. Christian, Mildred Harper, and Mildred Arlene Millar; William Roland Comiskey, William D. Devin, and William Harold Macy. Now another two names have been added.

Call Dean, Richard, Esther, Charlotte, Doris, Helen, Paul Lorin (Loren), John and straightway these . . . Dean Zempel and Deane Hoskins; Richard Callahan and Richard W. Irwin; Esther Land Control of Charlette, Ch Lorraine Cooper and Esther Liddell Wadding; Charlotte Glantz and Charlotte Parker; Doris Harmon and Doris Anna Scharnweber; Helen McNulty and Helen Glessner; Paul Albert Meagher and Paul Joseph Watson; Lorin D. Geil and Loren Runge; and John W. Sharp and Jonn F. Stevens. This would add nine answers to the roll.

Add all above mentioned answers and that would make sixteen in all. Then add this number to the fifty-four distinct names of the other members of the June, 1932, Senior class and the result totals a roll of seventy names.

Baker's Ad Among Honorable Mention In International Advertising Contest

Nadine Baker recently brought national recognition to Abraham Lincoln High school by winning honorable mention in the international Quill and Scroll Advertising Contest. She was one of three Iowans to place in the contest and the only girl to receive the honor from this state. The other Iowa winners were from Cresco and Waterloo.

Lincoln First In '32 National Press Contest

860 Newspapers Compete; C. S. P. A. Are Sponsors; North and East Second

Competing with 860 school publications, The Railsplitter has just received their national rating as a first class high school newspaper. This announcement was made in The New York Times, Friday, March 11, by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, sponsor of the national contest.

The Railsplitter was the only paper placing first in Iowa, as both the Oracle of North High and The Scroll of East High placed second.

Senior Instructor Places First In Book Contest

Miss Odessa Farley, English instructor of Lincoln High, again brought recognition to the school by winning first place in the Register and Tribune Book Review Contest with her interesting report on The Good Earth, by Pearl S. Buck.
